

"Waiting For the Reds" Is Game in Capital of U. S.

Group of Communists Finally Appears After Many False Alarms.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington—"Waiting for the Reds" is a new game they play over at the White House. It requires scores of players and a good time invariably is had by all.

The game begins when 40 or 50 communists meet every month or so in their little hall on Seventh street and vote to march on the White House next morning to protest about something. Word of this promptly gets to the police and the secret service. Everybody starts scurrying. Policemen are ordered to all entrances and there's a squad of motorcycle cops with sidecars ready to dash to whatever entrance may be threatened. The secret service men turn out full force and place themselves on the alert. The correspondents and photographers come a-running. The president and his secretaries keep looking out the windows or send inquiries. Crowds congregate on nearby sidewalks.

Up until several days ago the demonstrators had been fooling everybody by failing to show up.

But several days ago they suddenly appeared. Police took the matter in hand at once and arrested 13 of the ringleaders. Dick Jarvis, head of the White House secret service, had been annoyed by the non-appearance of the communists, but ultimately he had his day.

One understands that Vice President Charles Curtis, in deciding to be a candidate to succeed himself, was actuated by no particular desire to get the administration and the Republican party off the anxious bench. High Republicans had whispered so many mean things about Charles that he didn't mind how long he kept them wondering whether he was going to consider the administration a sinking ship and infer as much to the world by refusing to go on the ticket again. What did bother Curtis was the pleas of his political brethren in Kansas, who want to get that Senate seat—now held by George McGill—back from the Democrats next year and must lay their plans. The vice president has held political offices for about 50 years and he feels he owes a lot to the party in his home state.

Here comes another son into national politics, perhaps destined to go as far as Senator LaFollette and Governor Roosevelt of Porto Rico. His name is Thomas T. Taggart. He is the son of the famous Tom who was Democratic boss of Indiana for so many years and has been elected to his father's old place on the national committee following a factional row which found him pitted against L. G. Ellingham, Fort Wayne publisher and one of the elder Taggart's old lieutenants. Earl Peters has come nearer to taking old Tom's mantle of power in Indiana than anyone else and he supported young Taggart for the job.

Hundreds of men who came to the capital in the mistaken belief that it was easier to find work here than elsewhere are now finding it. A new municipal woodyard has been established and you can make a dollar by working four hours there. It probably is the most representative of all community woodyards this year. The first few score of the first day's batch of several hundred workers included cooks, tailors, carpenters, painters, laborers, waiters, plasterers, miners, machinists and a gun polisher from California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana, New Jersey, North Carolina and other states.

a list of eligibles from whom the regular appointee will be selected. It is understood from a Barnard businessman that Miss Ryan will be a candidate for the position.

Wealthy Chicago Philanthropist Dies of Pneumonia

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(P)—Edward Hines, wealthy lumber merchant and philanthropist, died early today after suffering from heart disease for months. He had been unconscious since Saturday. The immediate cause of his death was pneumonia.

Mr. Hines was 68 years old. Members of his family, who were at his bedside at the time of his death, were his widow, Loretta, his daughter, Mrs. Howell Howard, and his sons, Charles and Ralph Hines.

Edward Hines was born in Buffalo, N. Y., July 1, 1863. He moved with his family to Chicago in 1885, and attended the public schools until, at 14, he obtained a job in a grocery. He next became a boy in a lumber yard and later became office boy for S. K. Martin and Co.

Leaving his post as office boy, he served as bookkeeper, office manager and traveling salesman until, in 1884, when the company was incorporated, Mr. Hines was made secretary and treasurer. He was then only 21 years old.

At 28, he organized and became head of the new Edward Hines Lumber company which grew from an original capitalization of $200,000 to a corporation that covered 45 acres of ground which provided storage space for eighty million feet of lumber.

The lumber merchant gave the federal government 320 acres in Broadview, near Chicago, and $3,000,000 for the construction of the Edward Hines, Jr., Memorial Hospital in which hundreds of war veterans are under treatment. The hospital was erected as a memorial to Mr. Hines' son who died in France during the World War.

fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, fifteenth, seventeenth and twenty-fifth. Entirely cloudy days were on the ninth, eleventh, fourteenth, sixteenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-first, twenty-second, twenty-sixth, and for the rest of the month. There was only one clear day from the seventeenth to the end of the month.

High Average Temperature
There was a big difference between the high average of the past month and low average temperatures recorded for November. In 1911 November was cold, the average being 32.5 degrees, or 14.7 lower than this year. The high average maximum temperatures this year was 57.7 degrees, which is six-tenths of a degree higher than the previous high record established in 1914, and the lowest of 43.3 in 1911. The average minimum temperature the last month was 36.8 degrees, which is 6.9 degrees higher than the average for the month and five-tenths of a degree higher than the previous high record established in 1922. The coldest average minimum temperature since 1894 was 21.5 degrees in 1890.

The range of temperatures last month was from 17 on the twenty-fifth to 80 degrees on the eighth. This high equalled the record of previous years made in 1914, 15, and 24. The lowest November temperature on record was 5 degrees below zero in 1896. Snow last month was 2.5 inches, compared to the average of 1.4 inches, and the most on record of twelve inches in 1898. There have been several years in which no snow fell in November. The least moisture for November was a trace in 1904.

This and That

B. D. Miller brought a mushroom into the office yesterday afternoon which he found in his back yard. This mushroom is of the order Agaricales or Agaricus campestris, is edible and is generally found in the early spring right after a good rain. There has been plenty of rain, and until recently enough warmth to cause this fungus to grow, but lately the cold weather should have retarded its growth. Bob Conklin says that he gathered enough for a mess about two weeks ago, but that his mother threw them out, believing them poisonous.

POULTRY LICE

A new method of treating poultry lice has been recently developed and tried out sufficiently to be recommended. It is the use of black leaf 40 (nicotine sulphate) a tobacco by-product. It should be applied to the top of the roosts with a paint brush or spread with an oil can shortly before the fowls go to roost. The fumes given off by the material penetrate the feathers and kill the lice. This method is becoming popular because the fowls need not be handled and consequently will not interfere with the egg production.

APPLY LIMESTONE

H. A. Lemon six miles northwest of Maryville is running an interesting demonstration on the value of limestone in the growing of alfalfa. Two years ago this fall Mr. Lemon applied two tons of ground limestone to the acre on twelve acres. Lime was not applied to a small check strip in the center of the field. Alfalfa was sown in next spring. Mr. Lemon succeeded in getting a full stand on the limed portion and very little alfalfa on the check strip.

Mr. Lemon limed twelve more acres this summer and sowed it to alfalfa this fall. Unless this winter kills he will have a fine stand this next spring.

At the present low prices of limestone one should not attempt to grow alfalfa or sweet clover until he has his soil tested. The Northwest Missouri State Teachers College has applied one carload of fifty tons this fall.

Limestone is 85 cents per ton cheaper than it was a year ago.

4-H CALVES AT THE ROYAL.
Nodaway county folks should be proud of the winnings made by the 4-H Club boys and girls at the American Royal. The success of the 4-H Club boys and girls has inspired in them confidence and encouraged them to carry on the good work started.

Over thirty calves have been started for next year. Other boys' and girls have not as yet been able to locate the proper kind of calves. Breeders should cooperate and help get these good boys and girls started with outstanding calves at a reasonable figure. The best calves in the county will have to be started if the county continues its record in 4-H Club work.

Bearcat Cagers Answer Call and Begin Practice

Twenty-Eight Basketball Men Turn Out—Fewer Games This Year.

Twenty-eight Bearcats answered Coach Henry P. Iba's call for all basketball men at the College gymnasium yesterday p. m. The practice yesterday was the first before the opening game of the year, two weeks from now. Several men have been working out for nearly a month, and this group was swelled by nine men who have been out for football all fall. They are H. Fischer, Wilbur Stalcup, Ryland Miller, Ted Hodgkinson, Robert Hodges, Wayne Furse, Walter Dowell, Stewart Sheldon and Robert Dowell. All of these men but three are basketball lettermen.

In addition to the football men out, Captain Jack McCracken was out for practice for the first time last night. He has been working in Oklahoma City all summer, since school was out in the spring, and arrived in Maryville Sunday. Work seems to have agreed with him, for he has spread out and is much heavier.

Demonstrates Plays
Coach Iba gave his men a long session of warming-up exercises and handling the ball before attempting to put on a play of any kind. With Merrick, O'Connor, Johnson, Cowden and Biggerstaff, Coach Iba made an offensive team to demonstrate to the other players a type of play. As a defense he selected Jones, W. Dowell, Milner, Sheldon and Furse. After a time McCracken, Fischer, Hodgkinson and Stalcup went in with Merrick to form an offense.

The men who were out last night besides the football men already named are Catterson, O'Connor, Johnson, Cowden, Jones, Parker, Merrick, Biggerstaff, Lisle, Lawrence, McCracken, Evans, Hurst, St. John, Hiner, Whann, Mann, Loy and Kunkel. It is expected there will be some additions and also some depletions to the squad as the season wears on.

Fourteen Games Arranged
Coach Iba announced yesterday a schedule of fourteen games has been arranged so far. He says that he expects to add four more games to this schedule if suitable teams can be obtained.

HOOKS AND SLIDES by William Braucher

DID YOU KNOW THAT—Ted Kid Lewis ran for office in London recently and got only 154 votes — in his fighting days he was an idol in the East End — Joe Jacobs wants only $200,000 with a privilege of 40 per cent of the gate for Maxie Schmeling against Walker — but with the bout in the right spot Joe might even waive the guarantee for half the gate — Rabbit Maranville has been knocking them out of their seats in Japan — they go for that famous stomach catch and the Rabbit's other antics in a big way — they like the Rabbit, too, because he is down to their size — and a grand little guy, too.

Aftermath

Ernie Pinckert says Marchy Schwartz is the best back he ever played against. I wonder if Pinckert ever scrimmaged against a quarterback, halfback and fullback named Galus Shaver.

Infected Toe

Shaver played against Notre Dame with a badly infected toe. Before the game Doc Burber, team physician, spoke as follows: "Shaver could play 60 minutes of football if he had to, but we do not wish to run the risk of further infection."

I would say he not only could play 60 minutes of football. It seemed to me he played a whole season of football in one afternoon.

The Best Back?

You could start an argument that would last far into the night over the respective merits of Schwartz and Shaver. Before the recent game in which the pair met, I would have been on Schwartz' side, unqualifiedly. Now I am not so sure. Schwartz played a marvelous game against the Trojans. But in that game Shaver was a dragon.

Running Game

Now the point is raised: Shaver cannot run with Schwartz. He may be a better kicker or passer, but in the open field where large hairy paws are outstretched on every side to pull down the ball carrier, Schwartz has the edge in tailed. The schedule calls for nine of the games already booked to be played in Maryville. Coach Iba said that perhaps one or two of these four more games to be arranged would be played in Maryville, but that the number of home games would be sharply reduced from last year.

Coach Iba said that practices would be held five afternoons a week unless a game at night would interfere. He said that the squad would get a week's vacation at Christmas time if they round into shape as well as he hopes. The team will not make a trip during the Christmas holidays.

The Bearcats will open their season on December 14 with Southwestern Oklahoma Teachers of Durant. This team will be here December 14 and 15. The Bearcats have met the Durant team several times before and have defeated them every time.

Play Wichita Here

The next two games will be two of the hardest games on the Bearcat's schedule. They will be December 31 and January 1st, with Wichita University at Maryville. Wichita has practically the same club back this year that defeated the Bearcats in the finals of the Intercollegiate Tournament at Winfield, Kansas, last year.

January 7 the Bearcats will go to Pittsburg, Kansas, to meet the Teachers' College Gorillas, the only team that defeated the Bearcats twice last year. This team cut off the Bearcat winning streak at 42 consecutive games by winning, 40 to 33, here last year, and then at Pittsburg won a tough 42 to 40 battle that required a five minute play-off period. Only two of the regulars on the Gorilla first team last year have graduated.

The Bearcats then return to Maryville for their last home game in January, taking on the Cape Girardeau Indians in the first M. I. A. A. Conference game on January 9. If any other games can be scheduled by Coach Iba some of them will be played in Maryville about the middle of January.

Start Road Trip

January 14 the Bearcats play the Springfield Bears at Springfield, and on January 16 will meet the Warrensburg Mules at Warrensburg. There 2 games will be played on one trip. The Mules were the only M. I. A. A. team to beat the Bearcats in the past two years, winning a heartbreaking 28 to 27 fight at Warrensburg last year.

After the Warrensburg game the Bearcats will return to Maryville for about two weeks of work before they go on another trip to meet Kirksville and Cape Girardeau. The Maryville team will meet Coach Don Fauror's Bulldogs on January 28 and then go on to Cape Girardeau for a game on January 30. Coach Iba said that, if another game can be scheduled on this trip he will do it to make expenses.

The remainder of the Bearcat schedule as now arranged calls for four games to be played at home. February 5 Warrensburg will come to Maryville. February 9 the Pittsburg Gorillas will come to Maryville, and ten days later, on February 19 the Springfield Bears will play in Maryville. The Kirksville Bulldogs will play the Bearcats in their final home game on February 26.

Unless Coach Iba goes ahead with his intention of entering the tournament at Winfield and the National Tournament at Kansas City, the game with Kirksville will be the final game of the year for the Bearcats. He expects, however, to enter both these tournaments if the team performs well.

Baseball's "Ivory Market" Feels Lack of Major Trading

West Baden, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP)—So far there has been plenty of sparring but no knockout in the big major-league skirmish at West Baden to land better players or more desirable playing combinations for the 1932 baseball campaigns.

All the major league clubs had their camps pitched today and while rumors floated about the hotel lobbies, all the owners remained silent as if waiting for more favorable deals to turn up.

The Chicago Cubs, here with a big bag of William Wrigley's gold to tempt such clubs as the Boston Braves, the Phillies and the championship St. Louis Cardinals, intimated they were making good progress and almost ready to break the monotony with an announcement. Many rumors involved their huddles and one of them included Burleigh Grimes, star pitcher of the Cardinals, who may wear a Cub uniform next season. It was learned from a fairly reliable source that Grimes was for sale at the right price and every one knew that the Cubs had the cash.

The Western League, first of the minors to hold a business conference, met all day yesterday and all but decided to continue the 1932 season status quo with the same eight clubs in operation.

Pickering and New Point Fives in Good Condition For Game

Tom Merrick and Wilbur Stalcup, members of the State Teachers College basketball squad, will officiate the New Point-Pickering high school basketball games at the college gymnasium tonight. The second team game starts at 7:30 o'clock with the first team game coming at 8:30.

Coach Floyd Billingsly of Pickering said that all of his players were in good shape, but that they have not played any games since the Northwest Missouri Outdoor Tournament on Nov. 3 and 7. He will probably start his usual line-up of McGuire, Wilson, Dalrymple, Ingels and Gray. McGuire will be one forward with Wilson or Dalrymple playing the other forward, and the other playing center. Ingels and Gray will be the guards.

Coach Harry Sipes' crew is in good shape, but has the advantage of having had some competition since the outdoor tournament. The team played in the Bellvue tournament about two weeks ago, but has been resting since. Coach Sipes will probably have Alloway and E. Kurtz at forwards, Praisewater at center and Lemon and Kneale at guards.

Strong Elevens Will See Action For Unemployed

Charity Contests Promise to Be Hard-Fought Battles.

New York, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Football, most wealthy of intercollegiate sports, will share with the unemployed this week to the extent of an even dozen games and one round-robin tournament.

So hearty has been the response of the colleges to the appeal for help that an original slate that called for only seven big games on December 5 now lists 20. Of the thirteen charity contests the east, midwest and far west contribute on about equal terms.

Tennessee Meets N. Y. U.

The eastern slate will include the battle in the Yankee Stadium here between the unbeaten volunteers of Tennessee and New York University; the round-robin tournament at New Haven involving Yale, Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Brown; and the duel at Pittsburgh between Carnegie Tech and Duquesne.

In the south Alabama will meet Chattanooga, southern intercollegiate A. A. champion, at Chattanooga, and South Carolina will face Centre at Columbia, S. C. A picked eleven from Duke and North Carolina will play a team selected from among North Carolina State, Davidson and Wake Forest at Durham, N. C.

The clash at San Francisco between the undefeated Southern Methodist Mustangs and the Gaels of St. Mary's of Oakland heads a far western charity program that will include as well games between Utah and Oregon state at Portland and Nebraska, big six champion, and the Colorado Aggies at Denver.

Tulane In Action

In the mid-west four other big six teams have contributed their services. Kansas will play Washburn at Topeka; Kansas State meets Wichita at Wichita; Missouri tackles St. Louis at St. Louis; and Oklahoma battles Oklahoma City at Norman, Okla.

None of these charity games can effect either sectional or national ratings but there is prospect of close action in many instances.

Of the regularly scheduled contests, perhaps most interest will center on Tulane's clash with Washington State at New Orleans and Southern California's tangle with Washington at Los Angeles. Southern California must win to clinch the Pacific Coast title. Tulane's principle incentive against Washington State is a probable bid to play Southern California in the annual Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

Only seniors are eligible and each section, the midwest and east, will send eleven men each to battle stars from the Pacific Coast.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ill-effects—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gently. A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness; headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves. The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

Worrying About—Blood Pressure

At the first sign of danger, take a laxative. Cut down on alcohol, coffee and tobacco. Eat lightly for several days. Take a tablespoonful of mentha pepsin before meals to make digestion as easy as possible. Keep quiet until your stomach is settled and the dizzy spells have passed. Have your physician check your blood pressure at frequent intervals. Continue to protect yourself by taking mentha pepsin before every meal. (You can get Dare's Mentha Pepsin from Gough & Evans or any other reliable druggist). Avoid heavy food and too heavy meals—especially at night.

Do this faithfully and the chances are that you will prevent—or at least postpone—the danger of a stroke.

COLUMBUS' MAPS

It is interesting to learn that the map which Christopher Columbus used on his third voyage to America has come to light in a Turkish museum, and will shortly be given to the world. There is a world of romance in maps, especially in very old ones; and the map which carries great blank spaces along its borders, indicating that the cartographer did not know what lay behind the horizon, can call forth endless dreams.

That, of course, was the kind of map Columbus used. On his first voyage maps were of little use to him. He expected to fetch up against the Asiatic coastline somewhere, and he probably had such charts of China, Malaya and India as 15th century Spain could provide. But all the way thither was as mysterious and unknown as the other side of the moon. What good is a map to a man who charts a course due west into a shoreless sea?

By the time he made his third trip, of course, he probably had a more or less makeshift set of charts. He knew, at least, that sooner or later he would make a more or less familiar landfall. Somewhere ahead, there were islands and channels he had seen before.

But all the rest was darkness. To the north and south stretched almost infinite reaches of empty ocean, which might conceal anything from the lost Atlantis to the Happy Isles that Ulysses sailed for. What, one wonders, did the old navigator think, what sort of speculation took hold of him, as he sat in his dim-lit, creaking cabin, a chair braced against the bulkhead for security, and studied his incomplete map?

We shall never know, of course. Seafaring men are seldom communicative, and Columbus was no exception. But since that is a closed book, the next best thing is a glimpse at the map he used; and the man who could not pore over it by the hour, lost in dreams, has no appreciation of romance.

One trouble with our world today, you see, is that our maps are too complete. Around the poles are dwindling white spaces, and Asia and South America still have small areas that are unknown. But for the most part every headland has been charted, every mountain range has been filled in, every river bed has been traced. What wouldn't we give for a map that was half empty!

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

AMNESIA AMONG THE GREAT

Kansas City Journal-Post.
Amnesia, (the $8 word for loss of memory, as you knew, of course) appears to be on the increase in America. It strikes even those in high places sometimes causing them to forget remarks they have made, which upon appearance in cold print, seem not quite so clever nor so well considered as they did when voiced to a busily scribbling reporter.

Well, it's too bad, of course, but maybe amnesia is the price we pay for high speed civilization. All this apparatus of the statement, made Friday by Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals, that he never called American Legion members "bums," "hoodlums" or "imps of hell." Dr. Wilson adds, according to press dispatches from Washington, "Nor has it ever been my opinion that American Legion conventions are planned ahead of time as drunken orgies."

Perhaps Dr. Wilson never did believe that, but he said to a reporter for the Journal-Post, September 25, 1931, "The scene in Detroit was a premeditated and awfully drunken orgy, planned months in advance by the management."

FORUMETTES

Let's get a job as chief counsel for the Federal Farm Board. It's twenty grand a year.

Some manufacturer, who hides his identity, takes this time of year to tell how to get rid of the ant nuisance in kitchens. Store this information up for next year, as the press sheet says to spray the room with an insecticide.

Ho, hum. Well, the postal department profited some, at least, by the outbreak.

Flo Ziegfeld said there would always be stage-door Johnnies, and that's why there would always be "Follies." And what follies!

By this time it is evident that in the Manchurian theater of war China has missed her queue.

John H. Raskob is petitioning 90,000 Democrats as to their views on prohibition. Looks like something is going to be soaked.

Grape juice companies are still paying dividends, though packing companies are probably having a hard time trying to make both ends meet.

Dino Grandi eluded 50 New York detectives and police. Why, you might think he was in Chicago.

A New Jersey woman sued for divorce, naming a game of cards as co-respondent. Evidently she didn't stack up so well.

Or at least so the reporter said, and so far as we know the memory of this reporter always has been unimpaired.

Dr. Wilson's business, of course, or part of it, is to get newspaper publicity for the cause he represents. He is a professional worker for prohibition. He achieved publicity to a fair-ye-well last September by his comments on the legion convention in Detroit. Perhaps it wasn't quite as favorable to his cause as Dr. Wilson hoped it would be. But it seems like going a good way in an effort to revive a dead horse, to revert to the matter now.

Then, again, one must always consider the possibility that this may be just another bit of vicious misrepresentation of the good doctor. Maybe he didn't deny he said — — — but what has all this to do with whether gentlemen prefer blonds?

Realizing the Folk-for-president followers in Missouri are committed to a state-wide primary to settle the Clark-Folk question the leaders in the former governor's behalf want Gov. Hadley to call a special session of the legislature to adopt a presidential primary law similar to the law in Oregon, says the St. Louis Times. With this in view, the Democratic voters in Southwest Missouri, at a dinner at Joplin Friday night, adopted a resolution directed to Gov. Hadley.

Rich old MRS. JUPITER is robbed and murdered during the engagement party she gave for her secretary, MARY HARKNESS. The thief falls to get the famous Jupiter necklace. Suspicion points to Mary's brother, EDDIE, who is killed by a car as he goes to meet her. Police drop the case, believing Eddie guilty. BOWEN, police reporter for the Star, conducts a private investigation. He discovers a racetrack crook called THE FLY to whom Eddie owed money. Eddie's coat, found in the house, is recognized by the butler as one worn by a "gale-crasher" he ejected the night of the murder.

Mary's fiancé, DIRK RUYTHER, believes Eddie guilty and forbids her to see Bowen, fearing further notoriety. They quarrel but make up and plan to marry at once. Mary meets Bowen in a speakeasy where The Fly is said to be hiding. Dirk comes to take her home. He is on his way to look up the Jupiter necklace in his office safe. Dirk proves The Fly is not there. Mary clasps the necklace about her throat just as three strangers enter.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Old Mr. Jupiter stared at his son, mixed emotions on his face.

"Well!" he snapped. "So you're back, eh? I thought you'd come to your senses. You can't live on love even in Paris. I understand." He chuckled harshly. There was a hint of eagerness in his voice which he tried to hide.

Mary shook her head involuntarily—it was so much a moment for fact, and Jupiter was employing so little of it.

"But Bruce paid no attention to his father. Tossing the black, white-blinded 'parson's hat' he affected on a table, he sat down on the arm of a chair, and pulled out a cigarette—staring rudely at Mary meanwhile.

Mary marveled at the change in him. The dreamy brown eyes that had rested so warmly upon the throaty-voiced siren last night were black with anger. The luxuriant dark hair was more awry than before; it stood up in an impudent tuft above the high, broad forehead as if five agitated fingers had been run through it. The lean, sensitive fingers that toyed with the cigarette trembled visibly. But Bruce's voice was remarkably controlled—soft, smooth and poisonously sweet.

"Oh, yes, I've come to my senses," he murmured, his gaze still boring into the girl's. Mary flushed and retreated involuntarily before his brazen stare. "It is just as you said, father. I have stayed away too long, things have taken a surprising turn during my absence. Such a turn as a sensible man might have foreseen. But I am not a sensible man. I am an artist."

"I am very naive," said Mary. "I am not?" he asked purring. "It actually surprised me to learn that my place here had been usurped by a greater artist than myself!" He rose and made Mary a deep-sweeping bow.

"Utterly mystified, Mary turned to Mr. Jupiter who was looking at his son as if he were a madman. The hopeful, for their new home, near Fort Scott, Kan.

Patrick J. Keeler, who grew to manhood in the Clyde vicinity, and who has many friends in the county, was elected city judge of Buffalo, N. Y., at the election held recently for a term of eight years. Mr. Keeler has been practicing law in Buffalo seven years. He has also been active in Republican city politics. He won the election by a majority of 4,577.

At a meeting held in the Commercial club rooms Monday afternoon of autoists from Tarkio, Burlington Junction and this city, another proposed trail was suggested by Paul Sisson and G. B. Roseberry which met with favor from those present. The trail as proposed is to start at Nebraska City, Neb., and take in Tarkio, Burlington Junction, Maryville, Albany, Trenton and then on to Quincy, Ill. From Trenton it was proposed that the trail should go south, and meet the State Highway. The plan of the new highway met with much encouragement from the visitors, and it was decided that at a later meeting to be held in Tarkio, some action would be taken to establish the trail if it met with approval from the other towns.

J. P. Roelofson will sell on Wednesday, Nov. 29, at Maryville, a consignment of forty-five excellent young animals from his well established herd of Percheron and Standard bred horses.

timidly welcoming light had died out of his eyes. His jaw suddenly tensed. "Will you say what you mean?" he shouted angrily.

Bruce did not raise his voice nor remove his eyes from the girl's now terrified ones.

"You don't understand, my dear father? Of course not. Naturally, with your honest tradesman's soul, you would be the last to recognize the artist in the young lady who stands beside you. A beautiful artist, a charming artist, but nevertheless an adept in the gentle art of gold-digging!"

Old Mr. Jupiter fell back in his chair, openmouthed.

"Well, all of the damn fools," he gasped weakly. When Bruce would have spoken, he shouted "Shut up! Get out!"

"Nonsense, my dear father," Bruce returned calmly. "I have come home to stay."

Jupiter made a threatening movement.

"Mary found her tongue. 'This is so silly,' she protested.

"Silly, is it?" Bruce barked, turning on her. "My mother's jewels? My father's fortune? I dare say you're an estimable young woman in some ways and a faithful employee to whom some remembrance was fitting. But aren't you a little hogish? Share and share alike would have been sporting, at least! But I come home and am met with the boot. Why? Titan curls about an angelic face have done the damage."

"Well, I am not without some charm myself, if I wish to apply it to sordid task of opening purse-strings in my favor. I have not been a good son, perhaps, but at least I am a Jupiter. That's my challenge, Miss Harkness—do you take it up?"

Mary laughed outright. "You're quite mad," she said. "The Alps must have done it—the altitude. Now I'll make you a challenge. Suppose you get a little better acquainted with both your father and me before you do anything ridiculous."

Bruce had expected anything but amusement.

"Is my decision to remain in my own home ridiculous?" he demanded.

"It can be, if you're going to stalk about like Edwin Booth," she chided gently. Then she turned to the inarticulate old man. "Why don't you invite him on the 'Gypsy'?" A little closer view of things might change his ideas and save any more of this kind of thing."

To Bruce she added, "Your father's had quite enough trouble. Even you must see that."

"Quite," Bruce returned, "and I accept. Be sure you will find me at your elbow wherever you turn, Miss Harkness. You are an object of great interest to me and I may as well confess that from now on I do not intend to let you out of my sight."

Mary smiled. "The 'Gypsy' is small," she answered, and turned to leave the room.

Mr. Jupiter had been simmering; now he spluttered into speech. "Mary, come back here!" he shouted. "Don't you get ahead of yourself, young man! Leave this room until you're asked into it! Mary and I have some business to tend to. If you go along on the 'Gypsy' you'll outstep up your lip, or I'll put you ashore, remember that! I ain't too old to paddle you yet, if I have to, to take the tuck out of you!"

Bruce regarded the tip of his cigarette intently. "Business?" he asked, with an insinuating rising inflection.

"Business," the old man snapped. And unveiled what to Mary was an unexpected vein of sarcasm. "Business that wouldn't interest you! Mary thinks she's drawn a bead on the man that murdered your mama. You've got no time for such foolishness. You might miss your exhibit, you better get along about your paint-slapping."

Bruce flushed darkly, then paled. The haft had hit home. Mary was glad to see that he could be hurt on that score; here must be hope for him. For the first time she softened toward him lightly.

"I'm—scarcely an expert," Bruce said, "but perhaps I can be of use." He walked to the door and turned. "My old room, father?"

Jupiter nodded, scowling. Mary felt suddenly weak as they were left alone.

"I'm sorry to have been the cause of—of—she fumbled to express her humiliation, but the old man waved away her apology.

"It'll be all right, he'll come around," he told her. "We got plenty to do if we get away Tuesday. Get me Hendricks on the wire, will you, Mary?"

He was off on his plans for the cruise. The man-hunt they were about to embark on superseded everything else in his mind, for which Mary was grateful. For the first time she began to hope that the business might be brought to a successful end, and soon.

Leaving Jupiter crackling orders over the telephone, she went thoughtfully out and up to her room. It was useless to try to reach Dirk—he did not want to be curious about his whereabouts. She would write him at the house and wait for his answer, hard as the waiting would be. If she didn't hear on Monday she would call him, for she couldn't go away without seeing him.

Dearest Dirk, (she wrote): I'm sorry I walked away as I did last night—I don't suppose you'd like to forgive me. I'm sorry to have been the cause of—of—she fumbled to express her humiliation, but the old man waved away her apology.

"It'll be all right, he'll come around," he told her. "We got plenty to do if we get away Tuesday. Get me Hendricks it'll be left undone. It's the same with me.

"Don't worry about it, and above all don't think you must help. I don't expect you to, and I'm not angry about it, really."

I am leaving Monday for Florida on the 'Gypsy' with the Jupiters. Can't you come and see me before I go? If I don't see you again before I go, though, I make you this promise—that whether this job is finished or not, I will keep my date with you in December. (Or have I one?)

With love always,
MARY.

When she had the letter sealed, stamped and ready to go she had the absurd impulse to run to Dirk with it in her hand. How could she wait until Monday for an answer? Perhaps if she went into the village and mailed it, it might reach him on the late afternoon delivery.

Impatiently she threw off her clothes, found an old pair of riding breeches and shirt, and donned them. Then she telephoned the barn and asked to have a saddle put on Betsy, the mild little mare that was hers to ride when not more gainfully occupied at pulling the lawnmower or the station wagon.

Exhilarated by the prospect of getting out into the crisp autumn air, and by her errand, she went out, whistling happily. Outside her door, she came face to face with Bruce, who had evidently moved into the room across the hall.

He said stiffly, "We are neighbors, it seems. I'm sorry if the proximity annoys you."

Mary seized the opportunity to talk to him outside his father's hearing. It was a chance she had hoped for, but would have found it distasteful to seek. "Let me understand you," she said, coming forward to look him straight in the eyes. "If I accept your father's offer to make me his heir, it means that you will remain here, with him? That you will not go back to Europe as you planned?"

"How bright you are!" And if I refuse it, you will go on about your affairs as before?" Bruce was obviously taken aback. "If I thought you meant it—yes," he returned hesitantly.

"Then I accept." "Accept? But—" Bruce struggled with surprise.

Mary repeated, "I accept and I expect you to live up to your bargain. If the only consideration that will induce you to change your wholly selfish way of living and spend some time with your father is fear of me, then I am glad to be of use. It's too late now to do anything about it so far as your mother is concerned, but there's still your father who would like to see something of you, oddly enough."

Bruce was staring at her, a strange expression on his face.

"I've wanted to say this to you for six years," she went on undaunted. "Ever since I came here. I've tried to do my own quaint little imitation of Mary Sunshine, anything to keep those two people from thinking how much they missed you, from realizing how little their money had brought them, after all. I didn't succeed, naturally, but I can't add that we all grew to be very fond of one another."

"I quite understand that, little rival!" Bruce murmured softly, a peculiar glow in his eyes.

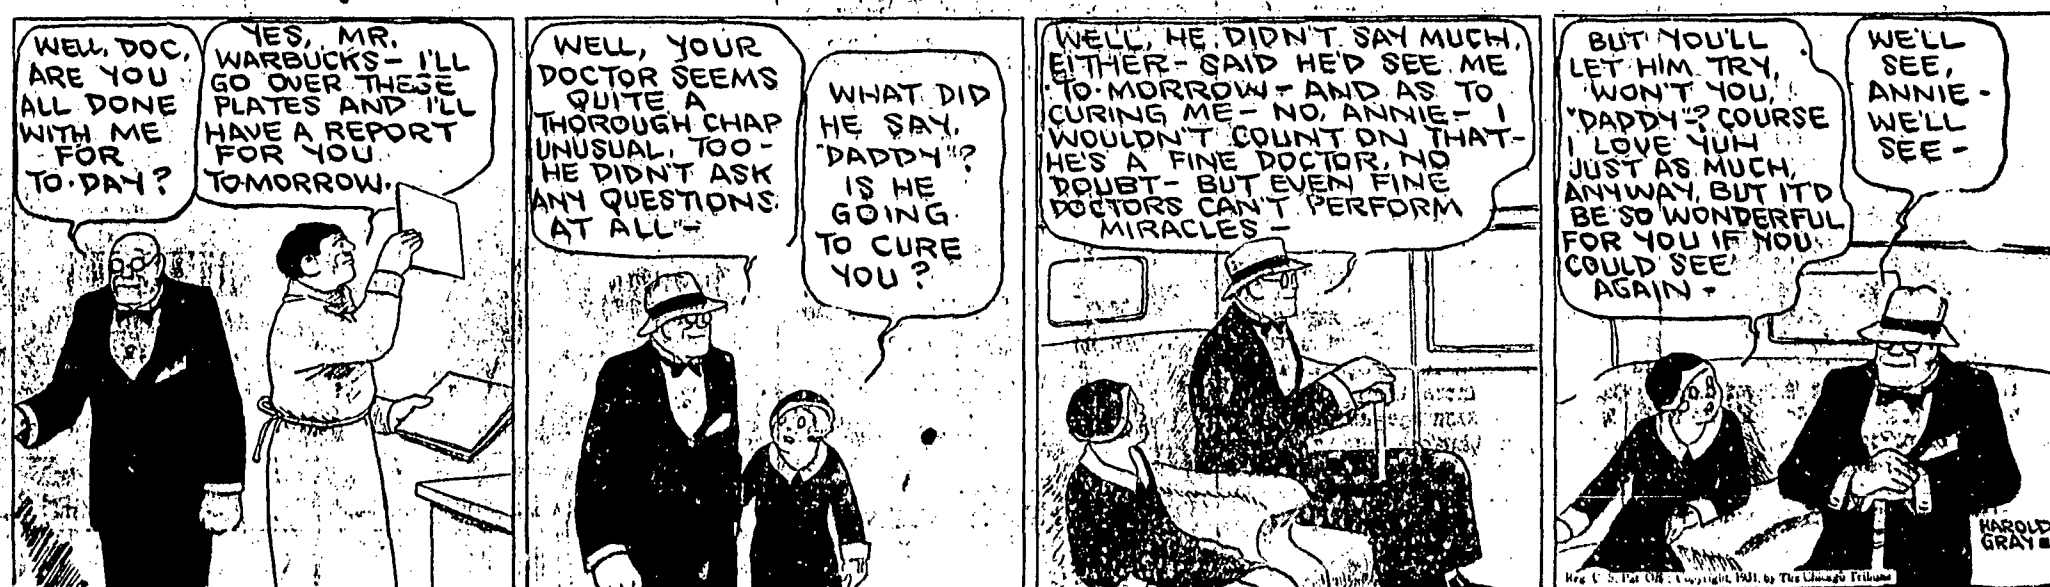

Mary had dropped her bitter tone and tried to speak as sincerely as she felt. Now she drew herself up and rejoined stiffly:

"Regard me as a rival if you like. Regard me as anything you please. I don't want your money. But if you let that brutish Garbo take you away from your father again, I'll take it! That's my threat and I'm glad to be able to enforce it."

"Ah—ah!" Bruce cried. "I remember you know! I've been puzzling over where I'd seen you. You were the girl in the elevator at the hotel last night."

Theory of Soviet Buying Gives Hike to Wheat Prices

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(P)—Assessments that Russia was buying wheat for internal needs helped give a sudden hike today to the wheat market here. The upturn was also stimulated by notably bullish reports concerning the United States winter crop outlook, some experts construing the reports as indicative of a complete change in domestic and world supply conditions next spring. Figures on five leading states suggested a crop only 10,000,000 bushels more than was harvested this year by Kansas alone.

Highest prices of the day were reached by wheat in the late dealings. Wheat closed unsettled, 5c to 1 1/4c above yesterday's finish; corn unchanged to 1/4c lower, oats 1/2c to 1/4c off to 1/2c up, and provisions unchanged to 1/2c down.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(P)—Grain prices underwent sharp early setbacks today, affected by sensational fresh breaks in British exchange rates and by New York stock market weakness. The collapse in sterling was 3.29%, an overnight fall of 10 points. Opening 1/2c to 1 1/4c lower, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started 1/2c to 1 1/4c off and then steadied.

Substantial rallies in wheat prices took place later as a result of December unofficial domestic monthly crop summaries. One comprehensive report estimated winter wheat planting at 36,088,000 acres, a reduction of 14.9 per cent compared with last year. The crop condition was figured at 70.4 or normal against 83.3 a year ago and 83.2 the ten-year average. In only three years in more than 60 years has the December 1 condition of winter wheat been below 80.

Another report covering results of a 2,000-mile trip in the southern part of a leading crop authority said that a total of 7,700,000 acres of domestic winter wheat has the poorest start even known. Detailed forecasts of production indicated radical decreases from 8 year ago. Kansas probable production, 64,030,000 bushels, against 223,497,000; Nebraska 38,868,000, against 58,770,000; Oklahoma 49,425,000, against 69,632,000. Corn and oats sympathized with wheat price fluctuations.

Provisions reflected setbacks in hog values.

Gandhi Declares Britain and India Are at Parting

MacDonald Pleds For Fur- ther Work Toward Per- manent Peace.

Conference Is Closed

Round Table Ends and Indian Leader Prepares to Resume Civil Disobedience Campaign.

London, Dec. 1.—(P)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, closing the second round table conference today, declares the British government would stand by its promise to grant self government to India, with safeguards as to defense, foreign affairs and finance.

The prime minister added he regretted to say the conference had failed to settle the communal problem, but that the work of arranging independence for India would go on.

While the delegates applauded he said the present national government fully accepted the promises of the previous labor government as to India's future.

Pleds for Further Work.
Pleading that the disappointment of the work of the conference be not allowed to hinder progress in the future he said: "We have put our hands to the task. Let us build well and truly."

Provision for continuing the effort to construct an Indian constitution was made by an arrangement to appoint a working committee.

"And then we must meet again," MacDonald said amid loud applause.

Mahatma Gandhi, in his final word, said that as far as he could determine from listening to the prime minister's address, he and the British government had reached the parting of the ways.

Gandhi Refuses Compromises.
The Mahatma, breaking his Monday day of silence at 1 a. m., this morning, steadfastly refused compromises proposed by some of his colleagues and declared that he would return to India determined to revive the civil disobedience campaign unless the government would give what he considered "real liberty" to India's millions of people.

The Mahatma, from whose lips no word fell during a long day and night in which nearly a half million words of oratory flowed through the conference rooms in St. James palace, began his speech as historic Big Ben, high in the parliament building tower, rang out 1 a. m.

Will Renew Campaign.
He will renew his civil disobedience campaign, he said, with "joy and consolation" if Great Britain fails to grant India what he demands as "real freedom." Then, he added, India's "half-starved millions" would have the satisfaction of knowing they were "not taking, but giving, lives."

"I am still open to compromise," Gandhi said, "provided the settlement is honorable and the liberty real. Call it by whatever name you will, but I want complete independence."

The prime minister pleaded with Mahatma not to depart from the ways of conciliation.

"My dear Mahatma," he said, "let us go the way of friendship. It is the best way and you may find it is the only way. It is certainly a way which will enable both of us to take great pride in our work."

Maryville Property Transferred.
A warranty deed was filed yesterday afternoon in the Recorder of Deeds office whereby Elmer Young and Mary Young transferred to Sue Young Frost for $1 a tract of land just west of Bedison and part of a lot located near the Welling Oil Co., on south Main street.

Succeeds Sen. Morrow

W. Warren Barbour Will Serve in Senate.

Trenton, N. J., Dec. 1.—(P)—W. Warren Barbour, former mayor of Rumson and wealthy thread manufacturer, was appointed today by Governor Morgan F. Larson to succeed the late Dwight W. Morrow as United States senator from New Jersey.

Barbour, who is 43 years old, is a Republican. He was once amateur heavyweight boxing champion of the world. He entered public life in Rumson in 1922 when he was elected to the Borough council. The next year he became mayor to serve until 1929.

During the present year he served as chairman of the finance committee of the Republican state committee.

Barbour fought his last public boxing bout in 1911 and at the time was hailed by James J. Corbett as the only boxer worthy to meet Jack Johnson for the heavyweight title. He refrained from entering the professional ranks, however.

Barbour will serve until a successor is elected in the 1932 general elections.

Santa Arrives Saturday Will Reach Here From Toy- land About 10 o'Clock.

A wire was received this morning from Toyland stating that Santa Claus would arrive in Maryville between the hours of 10 and 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Ellis Meek, chairman of the Christmas committee of the Chamber of Commerce told The Forum that Santa wired for all the girls and boys who possibly could get in town to be on hand Saturday morning and have their Christmas letters ready.

Santa has asked the committee to have his postoffice stationed on the bandstand on the courthouse lawn so that all the letters would be together when he gets ready to leave.

Santa will arrive in an airplane, being unable to get down here with his reindeer as he formerly planned because of the illness of the reindeer Vixon. He has informed the committee that Vixon probably would be well enough to make the Christmas eve trip, as customary for Santa.

There's going to be a parade the morning Santa arrives. The fire truck will lead the procession, followed by Santa Claus, who wants to meet all the boys and girls. The committee doesn't know exactly how long Santa will be in town on Saturday, probably for some time in the afternoon but it will be well to be on hand in the morning. He already has shipped his candy from Toyland to be distributed Saturday.

Champions Are Named at Chicago Livestock Show

Several Missouri Exhibitors Win Prizes at Inter- national.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—(P)—Meat monarchs of cattledom waddled onto the field of champions today.

Before nightfall, one of these czars of breeds was destined to rule as grand champion steer of the International Livestock Show.

The title "healthiest boy and girl in the land" awaited one boy and one girl of the 1,200 youngsters attending the Congress of 4-H Clubs. Another grain gargantuan, king of corn growers, was the other tophole honor of the day.

Last year's champion was "Jimmy," an Angus from the farm of J. F. McKenny, King City, Mo.

The St. Albans Farm, Pacific, Mo., placed third in the exhibit of Aberdeen Angus three-year-old cows.

A Shorthorn senior steer calf of Sni-A-Bar farms, Grain Valley, adjacent to Kansas City, won second place.

A Shorthorn, two-year-old heifer, also owned by Sni-A-Bar Farms at Grain Valley, was third.

A fat, Shorthorn calf, of Sni-A-Bar Farms, was second in that classification.

Shorthorn senior yearling heifer, Sni-A-Bar Farms, Grain Valley, Mo., first; R. C. Boeger Farms, Salisbury, Mo., fourth.

Aberdeen Angus senior yearling heifer, St. Albans Farm, Pacific, Mo., fifth.

Two Efforts to Set New Air Speed Mark Are Launched Today

Vancouver, B. C., Dec. 1.—(P)—Racing in an opposite direction over the 1,200-mile Pacific rim of the United States for a new record between Canada and Mexico, Captain Frank Hawks shot off from San Island airport just after 9 a. m., two hours, 42 minutes after J. R. Wedell zoomed northward from the Mexican border.

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—(P)—A double assault on the tri-country speed record between Vancouver, B. C., and Agua Caliente, Mexico, was under way today, with Captain Frank Hawks, holder of many speed records, and J. R. Wedell of New Orleans seeking new marks for the 1,200 mile flight.

Captain Hawks, taking off from Vancouver, B. C., planned stops at Portland, Ore., and Oakland, Calif., for refueling. He said he expected to make the trip in six and one half hours.

Wedell, at Agua Caliente, planned a round-trip to Vancouver and back, in ten hours. On the flight north, he contemplated stops at San Diego, Reno, Nevada, and Seattle.

James G. Hall, New York aviator and broker, holds the flight record of seven hours, forty-eight minutes and three seconds.

Jury Is Chosen

Jefferson City, Mo., Dec. 1.—(P)—A jury was completed in federal court here today to try the damage suit of the Snyder estate of Kansas City against the Union Electric Light and Power company of St. Louis, which is based chiefly on alleged lost scenic beauty to Hahantonko, by the rising waters of the Lake of the Ozarks, $30,000,000 hydro-electric project on the Osage river.

Chemical Blast Partially Wrecks College Building

200 Tulane Students Escape After Hydrogen Sul- phide Explodes.

Hang to Window Ledge

Two Women Students Are Rescued by Hook and Ladder Crew—Fire Is Brought Under Control.

New Orleans, Dec. 1.—(P)—Explosion of a defective drum of hydrogen sulphide, partially wrecked the Richardson chemistry building on Tulane University campus today, but 200 students and instructors in the building escaped injury. Fire following the explosion was quickly brought under control.

Two women students, trapped on the third floor of the building, climbed out of a window and hung to the ledge until they were rescued by a hook and ladder crew. A professor leaped to safety from a lower window but was not hurt.

Others reached doorways and ran out on the campus as the explosion shattered windows all over the building, blew out a skylight and filled the vicinity with acrid fumes.

The fire, starting immediately after the explosion in the acid storehouse adjoining the hallway where the drum exploded, was kept confined to the room.

Two Boston Men Are Sought as Slayers of Starr Faithful

Boston, Dec. 1.—(P)—The Boston American in a copyrighted story says that as a result of new evidence discovered in the investigation of the death of Starr Faithful, whose body was washed ashore Long Island, N. Y., last June, two Boston men are sought "as her slayers."

The newspaper advances the theory that in an argument the men beat the beautiful young woman unconscious and, believing her dead, threw her into the sea.

The American says the two men, whose names were not disclosed, were seen with the girl at Long Beach, N. Y., cafe the day she disappeared.

The newspaper also states that Nassau county, New York officials were in this city within the past few days investigating the new clues, and that Mr. and Mrs. Stanley E. Faithful, of a dead girl's stepfather and mother, secretly visited the city before the New York officials.

The newspaper advances the theory that the men demanded of the girl evidence with which they hoped to blackmail a prominent Bostonian who had previously paid the Faithful family a sum of money.

Kansas City's $40,000,000 Relief Program Is Begun

Kansas City, Dec. 1.—(P)—A $40,000,000 unemployment relief program was inaugurated here today with 1,000 men called to work on municipal projects financed under a 10-year bond plan.

The workmen were selected from 18,000 applicants. About 3,000 more are to be given jobs later. H. F. McElroy, city manager, said he selected unemployed men with the largest families or the start.

Theater Robbers Used Car Stolen in Richmond

The Chevrolet four-door sedan used by the robbers who broke into the Missouri Theater early Friday morning was stolen from Richmond, Mo., M. C. Snyder, a representative of the National Surety company of Kansas City, told Ray Cook, manager of the theater, yesterday. Mr. Snyder said that the car was a 1931 model, and that some warrants were expected to be issued at Richmond soon.

The Chevrolet was found abandoned Saturday near Rosendale and contained a sledge hammer. The dustier coat taken from the theater was found in a culvert about 100 feet from the abandoned car, but the thieves had taken the overcoat, the top coat and the rain coat with them.

Chief B. T. Andrews of St. Joseph fingerprinted several men picked up in St. Joseph, but none of the prints tallied with the marks taken from the radio tubes removed from the radio in Mr. Cook's office.

FAVORS PARDON FOR MOONEY.

San Francisco, Dec. 1.—(P)—Charles M. Fickert, who as district attorney prosecuted Thomas Mooney in his trial on charges of bombing a preparedness parade here in 1916, expressed belief today it would be best to pardon Mooney who is serving a life sentence in San Quentin.

W. A. Miller spent yesterday in Kansas City on business.

Road Commission Expected to Elect Phares Chairman

Maryville Man Is Being Men- tioned For Post—New Member Appointed.

William F. Phares of Maryville is expected to be elected chairman of the state highway commission at its next meeting, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Jefferson City.

Mr. Phares has been a member of the commission for about a year, and is a former chairman of the state Republican committee. The next meeting of the commission will be on December 7.

Charles Ferguson, Willow Springs business man, was appointed to the commission today by Gov. Caulfield.
Ferguson succeeds C. D. Mathews of Sikeston, whose term has expired.

Mathews had served ten years on the highway commission.
Ferguson, a Republican, was appointed for a six-year term.

Mathews had been a member of the highway commission since its formation. His first term, under appointment of Gov. Hyde, was for four years, and he was reappointed for a six-year term by Gov. Baker.

Ferguson, a merchant and farmer, was 51 years old yesterday. "A birthday present," Gov. Caulfield commented, in announcing his appointment.

The new highway commissioner long has been a good roads booster. His county, Howell, was one of the first in Missouri to vote a bond issue for a hard-surface highway. The bond issue, for $500,000, was to construct an improved highway between West Plains and Willow Springs.

Ferguson is a former postmaster at Willow Springs and a former presiding judge of the Howell county court.

Three Cities Band Together to Fight For Gas Rate Cut

Carthage, Mo., Dec. 1.—(P)—Three southwest Missouri cities—Carthage, Webb City and Cartersville—have joined in a legal fight to get a further reduction in gas rates from the Cities Service Gas Company and their attorneys were today preparing motions asking for a rehearing of an order by the state Public Service Commission.
The commission last week ordered an optional reduction and the cities believe the cuts do not constitute a sufficient reduction.

At a conference here yesterday, attended by mayors, city attorneys and councilmen, a decision was reached to file suit against the Cities Service Gas Co., in circuit court, seeking lower rates in case a rehearing was refused or a change in the new rates at a hearing was not granted. Carthage officials estimated the optional rate would effect a reduction of $3,500 a year, but claimed only $1,000 of the amount would benefit small consumers.

PROMINENT KANSAS CITIAN DIES

Hughes Bryant Was Noted Figure In Real Estate Field
Kansas City, Dec. 1.—(P)—Hughes
Bryant, whose development of downtown business has helped shape the skyline of Kansas City, died here today of acute dilation of the heart.

Mr. Bryant was a sufferer from asthma and subject to sudden attacks, one of which seized him Friday. He did not visit his office again after the attack. However, he believed he had recovered sufficiently to return to his business this week.

Bryant quit the practice of law to enter the real estate field. He devoted himself chiefly to the development of the downtown business district.

His best that you travel along On your shopping tour. It is all wrong
To rush the last minute.
There's no pleasure in it.
Do it now and avoid a mad throng.

Diplomat Says Japan Welcomes Plan For Peace

Proposal For Neutral Zone in Manchuria Wins Approval.

New Offensive Feared

Intercepted Radio Messages Indicate
Gen. Mah Plans Attack On Tsitshihar, Tokyo Says.

Nanking, China, Dec. 1.—(P)—Mar-moru Shigemitsu, Japanese minister to Nanking who conferred yesterday with Dr. Wellington Koo, the Chinese foreign minister, said today that Japan is just as eager as China, that there should be no fresh complications in Manchuria and that therefore the Chinese proposal for a neutral zone north of Chinchow is welcomed by Japan.

EXPECT NEW
ATTACK ON TSITSHIHAR
Tokyo, Dec. 1.—(P)—Japanese sources said today that intercepted radio messages between General Mah Chan-Shan in Manchuria and Chinese headquarters at Peking seemed to indicate that General Mah contemplates an offensive against Tsitshihar in the belief that the United States is inclined to support China.

The Rengo correspondent at Harbin reported that General Mah's forces had reached a point not far north of Tsitshihar, but the Japanese war office was unable to confirm reports that Mah was marching on the city.

Nevertheless, since there were not more than 500 Japanese troops in Tsitshihar, reinforcements were ordered from Mukden.

The Rengo report said the Chinese approaching Tsitshihar from the north were under the command of General Hsu Pao Chen, Mah's chief of staff, and that Mah himself was still at Fallun.

Paris, Dec. 1.—(P)—Japan's demand for the right to take action against bandits in Manchuria was not included in the final Manchurian resolution completed late this afternoon by the drafting committee of the League of Nations council.

The resolution was submitted immediately to the Japanese and Chinese delegates who transmitted it to their governments for instructions.

It was expected that Aristide Briand would make reference to the Japanese demand when and if the council adopts the resolution in plenary session.

The council was to meet this evening to review the resolution in its finished form and to consider its next proceed-ure.

China's declaration last night that it was ready to accept the council's program without any provision for a definite date for evacuation by Japanese troops was generally considered tantamount to acceptance of the resolution, but it was not certain that the Japanese government would be satisfied without any provisions for activities against bandits.

Government Considers Major Shepard's Bill

Kansas City, Kan., Dec. 1.—(P)—The government today was allowed thirty days in which to consider a bill of exceptions filed by Major Charles A.
Shepard in his appeal from a conviction on a charge of murdering his wife, Zenana, through the use of poison.

The chief point in the defense's bill of exceptions is the claim that the testimony of Claude Brown, Mrs. Shepard's nurse during her fatal illness at Fort Riley, Kansas, was improper testimony as a rebuttal witness, the nurse said Mrs. Shepard told her the army officer had given her poison.

Shepard is at liberty under $20,000 bond, pending the outcome of his appeal.

Jail Is Popular

The city jail is becoming the nocturnal headquarters for a considerable share of the floaters in the section, according to a check of the cards signed by the inmates each night for the month of November. The police checked in 119 persons during the month who stopped here over night and were unable to get lodging elsewhere because of financial difficulties.

According to their occupations listed seventy-two were common laborers, five were farmers, six didn't specify occupations and thirty-six had miscellaneous occupations.

Howell Speaks At Marcelline

Marcelline, Mo., Dec. 1.—(P)—Republican tariff policies and the Federal farm board were denounced in an address here last night by Charles M.
Howell, Kansas City, Democratic state chairman and aspirant for the Democratic senatorial nomination.

New Baptist Minister

REV. WILLIAM H. BUTLER

New Pastor of Baptist Church Here This Week

Rev. William H. Butler Will Preach Sunday—Union Service Planned.

Rev. William H. Butler, new pastor of the First Baptist church, will arrive in Maryville this week to assume charge of the church. He will preach his first sermon as a Maryville pastor at 10:45 o'clock Sunday morning.

Six weeks ago Rev. Butler submitted his resignation as pastor of the Independent church at Springfield, Mo., effective December 1, to come to Maryville. Rev. Butler was formerly pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Lawrence, Kan.

The Ministerial Alliance has arranged that a union service of the Protestant churches be held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in welcome to the new pastor. This service will be held at the Baptist church.

Rev. Butler will be the third new minister to come to this city since the latter part of August. Rev. V. C. Clark came in September, succeeding Rev. E.
L. LaRue. The last part of August
Rev. Fr. Isidore came to the St. Mary's church succeeding Rev. Fr. John Kunkel. Rev. Butler takes the place of Rev. Joe P. Jacobs.

Rev. Butler received the B. A. degree from Oklahoma Baptist University; and the M. A. and B. D. degrees from Vanderbilt University at Nashville, Tenn. He has held pastorates at Knoxville, Tenn., and Springfield, Mo., Lawrence, Kan., and Springfield, Mo., all university and college centers. Rev.
Butler comes to Maryville highly recommended by Rev. Lewis M. Hale of Springfield; Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Tex., and Dr. Fred F. Brown of Knoxville, Tenn.

Get Red Cross Reports

Good Showing Is Made by Towns Over County.

With the annual Red Cross Roll Call completed on Thanksgiving, district chairmen over the county are beginning to make their reports to the central office in Maryville on the memberships received.

While some of the returns are not as large as last year, Chester Lyle, Roll Call chairman, said the number of memberships taken out is good considering the conditions.

Graham has reported 334; Barnard, $34.35; Clyde, $12.30; Pickering, $37, and Elmo, $9. Pickering shows a substantial increase from last year.

Additional memberships from the local high school have increased the receipts from this institution to $30 and the College has augmented its Roll Call to $55.

The executive board of the county Red Cross chapter will hold its regular monthly meeting at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at the city hall. At this time the board will reorganize, as officers are to be elected.

It is hoped that a complete Roll Call report from the county can be given at this meeting, in order that the chapter can make its Roll Call report to the national headquarters.

November Broke Weather Records Observer Reports

Month Was One of Warmest and Wettest Ever Recorded.

A Long Growing Season

Time Between Last Killing Frost In Spring And First In Fall Was 198 Days—173 Is Average.

November will go down on the weather bureau records as one of the warmest and wettest in history. The month far surpasses any previous corresponding months in the amount of moisture and average temperatures.

The records of J. R. Brink show that the precipitation last month was 7.16 inches, as compared to 1.64 inches for normal and exceeds the previous high record of 4.91 inches in November 1922.

His records also show that the average temperature for last month was 47.2 degrees, which is 8.2 degrees higher than the thirty-seven year average for November and is one-half degree higher than the previous record established in 1913.

Frost Was Late.
Mr. Brink says that the high average temperature last month was due to the high uniform maximum temperatures for the month.

The first killing frost of the season did not come until November 6, Mr.
Brink says, when the temperature drop-ed to 27 degrees. Only in one other year since the weather records have been kept here has the first killing frost been later, and that was in 1924 when the first killing autumnal frost occurred on the seventh of November.

Other late years were November 1, 1900, and November 2, 1927. The last killing frost last spring was on April 22.

Thus the growing season this year included 198 growing days and the precipitation during the growing season was 21.43 inches.

Average number of growing days is
